

Ronald de Wolf. Quantum computing as a proof tool.

This course will survey a number of surprising applications of tools from quantum computing to topics from classical computing and mathematics, including:

- Error-correcting codes
- Complexity theory
- Polynomial approximations of various functions