

John Watrous. Semidefinite programming quantum computation.

This course will discuss the theory of Semidefinite programming and its applications to the study of quantum information processing. A major focus of the course will be on the use of semidefinite programming to understand quantum interactive proof systems.